Care will always be there!
None of us know when circumstances may change and we need assistance for ourselves or our families. The MCF offers that support - for as long as you need it. We hope you will give your wholehearted support to the West Lancashire MCF 2021 Festival.
A Million reasons to be proud!
Every year the Province of West Lancashire receives over £1 million in support of brethren, their families and dependents from the Masonic Charitable Foundation. We hope that you will give your wholehearted support to the 2021 Festival.
I have no hesitation in heartily recommending this most worthy cause of the Masonic Charitable Foundation for our 2021 Festival.
I would ask you to give your fullest support to it in the time honoured West Lancashire Way, putting service before self in support of those in need and those less fortunate than ourselves.

KODES LA ADONAI

Paula Kilshawe-Falls' Story

'The Freemasons are just like a family to us.'

Paula's husband Adam died unexpectedly when he was just 39 and she was 34 with two children, Sarah and Adam who were four and three.

Adam Snr had run a property maintenance firm and it was only when he died that Paula realised how badly things had been going. Paula and the children lost their home and sought refuge with her parents. Worse was to come, though, because Adam had used that house as collateral and soon it, too, was swallowed in the debt. 'My parents lost the home they'd been in for 40 years,' says Paula, whose father died soon after.

'I used to call the Lodge Almoner my fairy godfather - he gave me advice and emotional support.'

After Adam's death, Paula had written to his lodge to notify them. The lodge contacted the Provincial Grand Almoner and, within days, the lodge almoner visited Paula. He saw that the family needed financial and emotional support if they were not, despite Paula's best efforts, to sink. First, he took Paula through the state benefits she was entitled to and then helped her to apply for grants from the Masonic Charitable Foundation. She received awards from both and cried when she found out. A one-o grant from West Lancashire Province lifted the family out of homelessness.

There were still unpaid debts, however, and Paula was told that the only way forw would be to declare herself bankrupt. The Almoner supported her by going with h court. She could finally start anew.

The Marchington's Story

Masonic Charitable Foundation - Making an impact

That a simple grant can reunite a family is testament to the impact the charities have had on so many lives. The story of Caroline and her children, David and Louise (pictured below), is another moving example. The family received support from the Masonic Charitable Foundation after the unexpected death of Caroline's Freemason husband Tony in 2011. 'We were on a family holiday and Tony became poorly,' says Caroline. 'We took him to the hospital and discovered that he had melanoma. Within six weeks we lost him.'

The family was naturally concerned about the future. 'As a 13-year-old losing your dad, it's a very unstable time,' says Louise, now 17. 'I knew things were going to change and that was a massive worry.' While the charity could not undo the tragedy, they could ensure that David and Louise were not otherwise disadvantaged.

'The Masonic Charity helped David and Louise with their education,' says Caroline. 'David is now at the University of Oxford and Louise is applying for university thanks to them.'

Geoff Cousens' Story

Many of you will know what an active Freemason Geoff was in West Lancashire until he suffered two strokes. 'It was the worst time of my life' he said. 'I thought I would never leave hospital'.

Geoff's daughter Sue explains that the support he received from the Masonic Charity meant that he could return home to be with his family.

'The Masonic Charity helped us with everything from physio to all the equipment we needed at home . It wasn't just the grant it was the fact that Dad could be with his family again that was so important to us all'.

The story of Geoff and the others featured are typical of tens of thousands of Masonic families who have received support from the charities. The new Masonic Charitable Foundation will ensure that the same support continues to be available long into the future!

'Dad could be with his family again. Without the Masonic Charity it would have been impossible'

Sadly Geoff has passed away but the family wanted his story to be told and to show the wonderful work of the Masonic Charitable Foundation for which th
